GETTING HIGH IN LOW COUNTRIES

Dutch windmills were used for a variety of purposes, from grinding grain to pumping water. This model shows a windmill used for grain grinding.

COURTESY OF THE U.S.A.A.F

A model of a military vehicle, possibly a tank or heavy truck, with a large gun mounted on top. The model is highly detailed and shows signs of wear and battle damage.

Submodule diorama by Markus Eriksson

A TASTE OF HOME

A model of a military kitchen truck, possibly a M35, with several figures standing around it. The scene is set outdoors with a tree and a fence in the background.

The model shows a soldier in a trench, possibly during a battle. The soldier is wearing a helmet and a uniform, and is holding a rifle.

SD.KFZ. 250/9 by Johan Romm

ON THE BALTIC FRONT

Johan Romm's model of a military vehicle, possibly a half-track, is shown in a natural setting. The model is highly detailed and shows signs of wear and battle damage.

RENAULT UE

Some of the most interesting models in the gallery are the Renault UE military vehicles. These models are highly detailed and show signs of wear and battle damage.
